GIVE US A BANK.

There is nothing that would tend to advance the interest of Statesboro and Bulloch county more than a good local bank located in this town. Why is it that we are so far behind other towns of like importance than Statesboro? For instance take our neighbors. The town of Milledgeville, a town with far less commercial advantages than we have, and with practically no money in it, has a bank. They have just completed one of the handsomest bank buildings to be seen in any country town in the State. It seems to be that our citizens who have money, are either not possessed with that kind of a public spirit and enterprise necessary to the upbuilding of this community or that they are disposed to throw cold water on all efforts to start up a bank here for their own private interest and gain. Thus blocking off the progress of Statesboro. There is no question about money invested in bank stock here being a paying piece of property, this our business men all admit. So we hope to soon see the day come when this town will have a first-class bank. This inspiring life and push into all lines of business in our midst.

"New" Postoffice Rules.

A funny postmaster recently sent to the postoffice department a new set of postoffice rules. They were:
A pair of onions will go for two cents.
Luk bottles must be corked when sent by mail.
Persons are compelled to tick their own postage stamps and envelopes; the postmaster cannot be compelled to do this.
Persons are earnestly requested not to send postal cards with money orders, unless, as large sums are lost in that way.
Nitro-glycerine must be forwarded at the risk of the sender. If it should blow up in the postmaster's hand he cannot be held responsible.
When letters are received bearing no direction the person for whom they are intended will please signify the fact to the postmaster that they may at once be forwarded.
As all postmasters are expert linguists the address may be written in Chinese or Choctaw.
It is unsafe to mail apple or fruit trees with the fruit on them. It is earnestly requested that owners writing to their girls will please confine their gushing rhapsodies to the inside of the envelope.
Ducks cannot be sent through the mail without alive. The ducking would destroy the plumage of the ducks on the postal card.
When watches are sent through the mail, if the sender will put a piece on the outside, the postmaster will wind and keep it in running order.
John Smith gets his mail from 12729 postoffice, hence a letter directed to John Smith, United States, will reach him.
When you send a money order by letter, always write full and explicit directions in the same letter, so that any person getting the letter can draw the money.
Alligators over ten feet in length are not allowed to be transmitted by mail.
The placing of stamps upside down is prohibited. Several postmasters have recently been seriously injured while trying to stand on their heads to count stamps placed in this manner.—Morning News.

Reports show that the United States Treasury is rapidly filling up under Cleveland's administration.

This shows that the people have confidence in Mr. Cleveland's financial policy.
Hon. Thomas Watson has just been generous to acknowledge that the democratic party is the people's need. As long as the jump continues to burn the money may return.

Secretary Gresham has announced that only good and standard Democrats can stand in his department.

It is in order that thousands of the so-called democratic news papers who have been busy denouncing his appointment to get off and kick themselves for checking too heavy.

Georgia in Excelis.

There's a string of Georgia crackers From the white house to the sea. They are coming by the thousands In their wild, exultant glee. They will each one grab an office Or they'll smash the jubilee. When they come marching on.

chords

Dinkie dinkie, Hokeylaia!
Dinkie dinkie, Hokeylaia!
Dinkie dinkie, Hokeylaia!
When they come marching on.

They are leaving wives and children.

They are pushing to the fore, They are sleeping on the sidewalk. They are eating on the floor; They are moving on the broad-ways.

Six hundred thousand more.

As they come marching on, They are blowing their own bugles. They are whooping up their chains.

They are begging for each other.

They are queering us with names, They are straining at the breech-chain. They are bursting through the jam.

As they come marching on.

They have laid aside their farming. They have knocked off selling goods. They are coming from the cities.

And from rustic neighborhoods. And Greaser and his engine. Have taken the woods. As they come marching on.

WILL GO TO PIECES

Atlanta, Ga. March 22.—In an interview today with Thomas F. W. Winthorpe, party ex-congressman from the Ninth Georgia district, he said that there is no room for only two great parties and says that if the democratic carry out in good faith their platform the people's party will give them full credit and not according to the number of votes they get.

Not to be satisfied.

The announcement of these interviews is received with considerable interest here indicating that the third party in the South will rapidly go to pieces if the Democratic party stands squarely on its platform.

Married.

Near Mill Run at the residence of the bride's father Mr. Joseph Dutton, on the evening of March 23rd, Mr. W. H. Sharpe and the beautiful Miss Ida Dutton, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. W. D. McGee, in the presence of the family and a few guests. After the ceremony and the usual congratulations, all present were led to the dining room, where a table beautifully decorated grand beneath its load of good things. It is useless to say that all did ample justice to the rich repast. At the conclusion of supper all repaired to the parlor where several hours passed pleasantly in social chat, interspersed with music and singing to her, the fair bride. The presentation of a portion of scripture and conducted them to a rich throne of divine grace, paying the blessings of heaven to descend upon all present. After which the guests all left for their homes, feeling that a portion of scripture and conducted them to a rich throne of divine grace, paying the blessings of heaven to descend upon all present.

Washington Letter.

WASHINGTON, D.C. March 24.—President Cleveland has done no more popular thing since he assumed the high office than when he jumped on to the table of ex-president Hayes and shook him by the head of the almy serpent neptunism which had started to wriggling around entirely too promiscuously. He first took occasion to inform a distinguished southern Senator who had appointed his son to be clerk of the Senate committee of which he was lately made chairman that in consequence of that appointment indication had been much weakened. Next he took a western congressman breath away when as a check engagement in favor of the appointment to an office of and of his constituents he said and he is a relative of yours, Mr. President, by saying that he would be appointing to office by me. He then gave that Congressman a short but comprehensive lesson on the evils of nepotism which it is safe to say he will never forget. It lives a century. It is also safe to say that the head of the afore-said almy serpent will not be reared in any of the executive department of the government for four years to come all of which is a decided gain for the country.

The executive department, being put upon a democratic basis as rapidly as possible and republican chiefs of bureau, and divisions are being succeeded by democrats as fast as the head of the department can select the new officials. Democratic economy is also being put into practical operation. Following Secretary Morton's order dismissing all of the superfluous employees of the department of agriculture comes in order from Secretary Carlisle to the division chiefs of the Treasury department ordering the immediate dismissal of every employee not absolutely essential to keep the work of the department. The democratic administration has voted into power to reduce the extravagant expenditures of the government and of every member of it is fully determined that the wishes of the voters shall be carried out to the letter.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Maxwell the gentleman who will hold the office of Vice President of the Senate is on lock and key at work. There are several thousand restrictions on hand and these will be disposed of before he begins his work of enjoining republican postmasters. Speaking of postmasters, P. M. G. Bissell stated to a delegation of Missouri Congressmen that the policy of the department concerning the removal of postmasters is to be carried out in the most prompt manner. The first place it had been stated by these newspapers that the recommendation of congressmen would count for nothing. As a refutation of that statement the fact was pointed out that not a single postmaster had yet been appointed who did not have the endorsement of his congressman. While not disposed to ignore the Congressman, Mr. Bissell said that the question of who should be postmaster should be a matter at least decided by the people of the locality, who were more directly interested than any else and that the wishes of the people when expressed would certainly be considered in making the appointments nobody is to be ignored what the department wants is the cooperation of both the people and the congressmen in the selection of such postmasters as will increase the efficiency of the postal service. Mr. Bissell also denounced as false the statement that women and editors are to be discriminated against in the selection of postmasters.

The number of nominations sent to the Senate this week is considerably ahead of any other week. The nominations are mostly from other parties, disappointed, but with the exception of the nominations of Burke and Hawkins to be U. S. Attorney and Marshall for Indiana, over which there was a little stir, no adverse criticism have been made of any of them by democrats.

The democratic caucus decided to elect the officers of the Senate at the present extra session, and nominated as Congressmen: E. J. R. Coe, of North Carolina, for Secretary; Richard J. Bright, of Indiana, for Sergeant-at-Arms, and Rev. W. H. Milburn, the blind preacher who has been Chaplain of the House for several terms, for Chaplain. The republicans threaten to resort to filibustering to prevent an election of these officers, but it is believed that they are only making a bluff to enable them to keep as many republicans in the subordinate positions as possible.
